EXTENDED FOUR WEEKS THROUGH AUGUST 31
IN THE AUDREY SKIRBALL KENIS THEATER
AT THE GEFFEN PLAYHOUSE

“I was laughing too hard to breathe!”
"Deeply touching ... A performer with comic timing this effortless, charisma this potent, you have to just sit back and let her roll over you like a steamroller in a blue dress."
- Los Angeles Times

July 22, 2014 (Los Angeles) – The Geffen Playhouse has extended the Spotlight Entertainment Series presentation of the hilarious comedy Dixie’s Tupperware Party – four weeks have been added (a doubling of the original run) with a close date of Sunday, August 31. This one-woman tour-de force stars Drama Desk Award nominee Dixie Longate in the role that she was born to play. This production is running in Los Angeles as it enters its seventh year of a smash worldwide tour. The Hollywood Reporter calls Dixie’s Tupperware Party, “often hilarious and always endearing,” and LA Splash says, “Fasten your seatbelts. You’re in for an evening of non-stop laughter!”

Dixie’s Tupperware Party stars Dixie Longate, as the fast-talking Tupperware lady, who has packed up her catalogues, and left her children in an Alabama trailer park to journey across America. Critics and audiences have howled with laughter as Dixie throws a good ol’ fashioned Tupperware party filled with outrageously funny tales, heartfelt accounts, FREE giveaways, audience participation and the most fabulous assortment of Tupperware ever sold on a theater stage!

For the last six years, Ms. Longate has tickled audiences and critics in major cities around the country as well as London and Melbourne – grossing over 3.7 million dollars in ticket sales. Produced by Down South LLC and directed by Patrick Richwood, Dixie’s Tupperware Party features costumes designed by Miss Longate and lighting designed by Richard Winkler.

BIOGRAPHIES

Dixie Longate (Actor)
Dixie Longate, America’s number one personal seller of Tupperware, hails from Mobile, Alabama. She got her start with the fantastic plastic bowls in 2001 when her parole officer mandated that she get a job in order to get her children returned to her custody. Within a year, she was in among the top sellers in the nation because of her unique perspective on those plastic bowls that have been around since 1948. Surviving three husbands, Dixie is the sometimes-proud parent of three children; Wynona, Dwayne, and Absorbine, Jr. Her Tupperware party caught the eye of some New York theater producers and in 2007, Dixie appeared in the self titled show, Dixie’s Tupperware Party off-Broadway for which she garnered a Drama Desk Award nomination for Outstanding Solo Performance. The show is now gearing up for a national tour in theatres far and wide across the fruited plain. Patrick Richwood (Director)
Patrick Richwood has been associated with Dixie Longate since her earliest days in the world of food storage and is delighted to be collaborating on her quest to save the world, one collapsible bowl at a time (item # 503!). As a director, he has garnered critical praise for his work in the one-person genre including Dark Horse at the L.A. Theatre Center, An Otherwise Empty Room at the Geary Project, San Francisco, and Ishmael for the Center Theatre Group/Mark Taper Annex, Los Angeles. In New York, he co-founded The Prince Street Players, dedicated to producing works by playwrights under twenty (Barry Award for Advancement of the Arts), and he was co-Artistic Director of the premier season of the New Works Festival of Harlem, for which he directed seven short plays. As an actor, he has performed in plays and musicals from coast to coast, including Command Performance at The White House.
