LOS ANGELES, September 6, 2011 — Kristoffer Diaz’s Pulitzer Prize nominated play The Elaborate Entrance of Chad Deity makes its West Coast debut at the Geffen Playhouse on Wednesday, September 7. New York cast members Usman Ally (VP), Terence Archie (Chad Deity) and Desmin Borges (Mace) get back in the ring to reprise their roles at the Geffen Playhouse where they’re joined by seasoned pro-wrestler Justin Leeper (The Bad Guy), actor and wrestler Timothy Talbot (Billy Heartland / Old Glory), and character actor Steve Valentine in the role of Everett K. Olson (aka EKO). Helmed by Edward Torres, this acclaimed new work slams together thrilling spectacle, incredible characters and geopolitical allegory into an invigorating theatrical experience you can’t find on pay-per-view. The Elaborate Entrance of Chad Deity tackles racism, drop-kicks globalization and brings this championship tale onto center stage when it opens in the Gil Cates Theater at the Geffen Playhouse this week.

The Elaborate Entrance of Chad Deity had its world premiere in 2009 at Victory Gardens Theater in Chicago before moving to Second Stage in New York. This West Coast premiere will allow both playwright and director to delve deeper into this still new work, which has already been lauded with the 2011 New York Times Play Prize, the Obie Award for Best New American Play and the Lucille Lortel Award for Best New Play.

Opening night festivities, which are sponsored by Audi of America and Los Angeles magazine, will be held at Napa Valley Grille with beverages provided by Malibu Family Wines and Glaceau Smartwater. In addition, Montage Beverly Hills pastry chef Richard Ruskell will be unveiling one of his signature themed cakes. Additional special events during the run of The Elaborate Entrance of Chad Deity include the theater’s special Signature Series options for no additional cost. These evenings include intellectual, thought-provoking post show discussions each week at Talk Back Tuesdays; a scintillating, one-of-a kind after-party on September 15 for Girls Night Out, a cultural happy hour with Lounge Fridays (September 23 and 30) and complimentary wine tastings each week during Wine Down Sundays.
