SPIES AND SUPERHEROS GET EARLY TRAINING WITH THE GEFFEN PLAYHOUSE STORY PIRATES

Classes For Children Ages Three Months to Nine Years Include ‘Everybody Gets a Song’, ‘Superhero Training’ and ‘Secret Agent Spy Training’

LOS ANGELES, April 20, 2011 – Parents all across Los Angeles can officially cease the struggle to find creative, physically-active and incredibly entertaining programs options for their children. Starting in early May, the Geffen Playhouse Story Pirates are offering new morning and after-school courses held at the Geffen Playhouse Kinross Annex. Known for their award-winning literacy initiatives in schools across the country, the Story Pirates are stepping out of the classroom and extending their performance-based learning style to the families of Los Angeles. By tailoring the classes to the specific interests of each age group, the Pirates have designed a learning curriculum disguised as puzzles, riddles and pure play that features classes including Everybody Gets a Song, Superhero Training and Secret Agent Spy Training.

“We don’t just play drama games, we create a whole theatrical world for every class,” said Story Pirates CEO Jamie Salka. “And in the process, we teach creative problem solving, promote original thinking, and teach a love of learning, while wrapping it all in a larger, playful dramatic framework.”

The 2011 Spring session classes run from May 9 through June 30 and will include:

Everybody Gets a Song (Ages 3 months to 3 years)
This is a truly unique offering by the Story Pirates – while everyone else is singing the same ol’ songs, your child will have a song created just for him or her! Knowing that creativity and language skills develop at a young age, Everyone Gets a Song was created for toddlers as a program to nurture imagination and personality through music and stories. During each class the Pirates lead and observe children through sing-a-longs, puppet shows, storytelling, playtime and the session ends with a personalized song for each child about their lives and interests.

Superhero Training (Ages 5 to 7)
Designed to empower individuality in children, Superhero Training is a forum for kids to create their own superhero, decide on a superpower, make a costume and track it all in their own comic book. Through storytelling, theater and visual arts, kids will explore how their heroes can defeat villains and save the world, while the Story Pirates help them develop a supernatural knack for imaginative, nonviolent problem solving.

Secret Agent Spy Training (Ages 7 to 9 years)
The Story Pirates' Secret Agent Spy Training is a workshop series for boys and girls that puts kids smack in the middle of a world of mystery and intrigue, complete with plot twists, secret letters to decode, and missions for the kids to accomplish. Once a child has gone through the curriculum of the training program they are given a chance to see one of their own stories brought to life at a Story Pirates weekly Saturday shows in Westwood.

The Geffen Playhouse Story Pirates offer 8 week class sessions that are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Geffen Playhouse Kinross Annex. Class session prices and schedules can be found at geffenplayhouse.com/classes.
